The Machine Bring Pink Floyd Fans an Evening of Sensational Entertainment

"The world's greatest Pink Floyd show" comes to The High Point Theatre on Saturday, June 21 at 8:00 PM

If you've ever wanted to experience – or relive – the mind-bending spectacle of Pink Floyd in concert, you won't want to miss this one-night only performance by The Machine. Cranking out crowd-pleasing selections from every phase of the legendary band's 30-year excursion to the frontiers of experimental rock, The Machine presents strikingly faithful interpretations, complete with thrilling impromptu jams and a state-of-the-art light show.

Born in the bohemian village of Nyack, NY, The Machine started out playing a diverse repertoire of rock favorites, including many classic Pink Floyd songs. Their uncanny ability to recreate the sound and spirit of Pink Floyd led fans to enthusiastically call for more. Today, after playing more than 1,500 shows to more than one million people, The Machine has honed its homage to pure perfection. In addition to their solo events, the band has shared the stage with such classic-rock superstars as The Guess Who, Jefferson Starship, Steppenwolf and Eddie Money. Commenting on their sensational appeal, Guitar One Magazine noted, "You know you've got it going on when you sell out B.B. King's in New York City and Roger Water's sax player jams with you."

"It's been very rewarding for us to travel all over the country and internationally," says drummer Todd Cohen, "having the honor to present the musical experience of Pink Floyd to newer fans who never had the option of seeing Pink Floyd in concert. It is a complete thrill to hear a fan tell me 'My soul was filled with the magic of the music you made.' This is timeless music that we're excited to continue sharing worldwide."

The Machine will be performing live on stage at the High Point Theatre on Saturday, June 21, 2008 at 8:00 pm. Tickets are $25/orchestra and $20/balcony. Call 336-887-3001 or visit www.highpointtheatre.com for reservations.
